ALEXANDER'S Universal Patent "Deflector" Ventilator.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS.

THE necessity of proper ventilation for the preservation of health is becoming more recognised every day. The subject of a continual supply of pure air has in recent years increasingly engaged the attention of mechanics.

It is believed that the patent "DEFLECTOR" VENTILATOR, which is the result of much thought and experience, thoroughly fulfils all the conditions that have been formulated as axioms of scientific requirement. It is so called in consequence of its diverting the direction of air currents in such a manner as to prevent down draught and the entrance of rain or snow, at the same time exercising a powerful syphonic action and exhaust pressure in the upcast, with positively no obstruction to the efflux of vitiated or heated air.

The "DEFLECTOR" has the further recommendation of containing no movable parts, being entirely self-acting.

This Ventilator is made of various external designs, to meet the exigencies of different styles of buildings, but is of uniform principle in every case, and is adapted for air tubes and soil pipes of every size, and particularly to roofs of all descriptions, turrets, gables, &c., for the circulation of fresh air in churches, chapels, halls, for large and small rooms, and for ships' cabins.

The materials used in its construction are Zinc, Copper, or Galvanized Iron. Zinc of F. BRABY & Co.'s well known quality is generally preferred, being light, yet strong and durable.
